

PROVISIONS OF THE SERVER RECORDS PRIVACY POLICY

- 1.1. The server hosting the Website may also record the inquiries you make to the server (the address of the website you are opening, the device and browser you are using, the IP address and login time). These data are used for technical purposes only – to ensure the proper and secure operation of the Website and to investigate possible security breaches.

Server records data are collected and used by the Controller to ensure technical availability and security of the Website.